Intro

Chrome

A million faces, each a million lies For each and all a chrome disguise Prompts for action force reaction Embody promise in a sheen so pure Hurt, the measure of blind ambition The testament to your singular disease Against all wisdom you heed no warning Your desires giving you away

If I could change your mind I wouldn't save you from the path you wander In desperation dreams any soul can set you free And I still hear you scream In every breath, in every single motion Burning innocence the fire to set you free

Your actions turn conquest to dust In portents of fate you foolishly place trust Sense fear in your broken breathing Resort to shadows till your body expires All creation has the promise of heaven And still you travel the road to hell I'm saying nothing for the good of myself But I'm still talking and you're not listening

If I could change your mind I wouldn't save you from the path you wander In desperation dreams any soul can set you free And I still hear you scream In every breath, in every single motion Burning innocence the fire to set you free

As night descends upon the city The streets are cold, the lights go by And in the stories of the people A million faces, a million lies They'll never say they feel what you feel That they can see the world you see And in their faces, their expressions A million faces, a million lies

Arena

Before me plays the endless film Relentless splinters I recall Each living thing breathes life Only sentiment remains To liquid born, from patterns formed The sand descends with blind intent Where the river takes me will in time be revealed

I cannot turn my feelings down Beyond my means to turn my thoughts around Expressed in every word I will ever speak Brighter than all the stars combined More than the waters, earth and sky All that I wish and all that I dream

Above the waves with my hands raised Dare the wind, lay claim to me Knowing somehow none could take me Watching the sun come up in vain The only reason I can find why I remained The need to leave the point I came to again and again

It didn't matter how hard I tried It took so long to claim that I knew how Or what it meant to let go of this To ever say goodbye Call it destiny, call it fate Chose my direction: running forward Each life to learn anew, whatever may come

I cannot turn my feelings down Beyond my means to turn my thoughts around Expressed in every word I will ever speak Brighter than all the stars combined More than the waters, earth and sky All that I wish and all that I dream No creed on earth can replace or provide In my darkest hour, the comfort I'd feel Leading me to see I can be more than I expect of me My beginning and my end The first and last air that I breathe More than the sum of everything that I will ever be

Entropy

In the face of grave defeat Are heard cries for mercy No barrier of self control No innocent composure Abusing love and, like a child, Inflicting pain upon itself When the calling finally comes Will there be no one waiting?

In blind despair taken in By any glimpse of freedom Sell your soul to buy some time Infect all your longings The thought that god has taken sides On the path to breaking down Disconnected but not alone Scream to the tune of the background noise

Endless thoughts of what is wrong Arrive at no conclusion On the floor still nursing wounds No sense of self to speak of The thought that god has taken sides On the path to breaking down Disconnected but not alone Scream to the tune of the background noise

When does enough become enough? When does "no" have meaning?

Endless Skies

How many years since you found yourself Staring at an endless sky?

Unaware of yourself Who you are and where you're going Only living Only breathing Losing all sense of time

The most fragile of things Captivates and embraces you Surrender and be witness To this rarest of moments

You live within the sense Of the order of things What is truth What is important What defines you

No need to fear No need to worry About years that passed About time you lost

Live seconds as a lifetime Time it does not matter You live within the sense Of the stillness of time

Homeward

The hallowed lands so far behind As fleeting dreams still linger Like distant voices through the rain Like grains of sand cast from my hands

I never thought I'd go this far Without a star to cross the seas So far from shores I'd left behind Still far from shores I've yet to reach

I try to find the strength I need To calm the doubts in my beliefs With the will, I know my heart won't break

And if I have strength then I've belief If I have love my heart still beats Here under stars Far from home

The picture fades, the light recedes The sound is lost in whispers My recollections once clear and pure Now distant lights that dim with time

I never thought I'd go this far Without a star to cross the seas So far from shores I'd left behind Still far from shores I've yet to reach

Lightwave

Perpetual

Find it in you, raise your eyes Look beyond the place you stand Towards the furthest reaches And to the smallest of things The sound you're hearing Is the symphony of what we are Revelation will not come With heart and mind closed and divided

No need of sun to light the way Across the ages, we have reigned as we endured Through the storm fronts we will ever surely pass To stand as never ending light

Throw away the mantle Awake from your uncertain hesitation No way to describe or equate the feeling No end to what is at your command A million thoughts run through you Concentric circles, ever greater But you have always known That this is not all that there is To your questions there'll be answers

Let there be, let there always be Never ending light
